Commencement of Salary for New Overseas Appointees

" * * * concerning the effective date for commencement of salary payments to new overseas appointees. Many appointees are required to report to Washington prior to commencement of travel overseas, and a ruling has been requested as to whether it is mandatory or permissive to start salary payments on the date travel commences. * * * "

" * * * Another question has been asked regarding the legal relationship between the appointee and CIA during travel, if salary payments do not start until entrance upon duty in Washington. The question primarily concerns the possibility of injury or death of the appointee en route to Washington. * * * "
